“Ever the Night Road” Is Finalist in 2022 Foreword Indies Book of the Year Awards
Winners To Be Announced in June

March 9, 2023 — The fantasy novel “Ever the Night Road” by indie author Michael Breen has been named a 2022 Foreword Indies Book of the Year Finalist in the Adult Fiction-Fantasy category.

The U.S.-based award received more than 2,500 entries across multiple genres from debut author publishers as well as established university and independent presses.

“This year’s Finalists represent the top offerings in each genre,” said Foreword Indies Publisher Victoria Sutherland. “It’s really a wonderful tribute to the independent voices that don’t often get the recognition they deserve.”

Finalists were determined by Foreword’s editorial team. Winners in each genre are now being decided by teams of librarian and bookseller judges from across the country and will be announced June 15, along with Editor’s Choice Prize winners and Foreword’s Independent Publisher of the Year.

This honor comes on the heels of “Ever the Night Road” being named a finalist in the U.K.’s Wishing Shelf Book Awards. Other accolades the book has received since its launch in November 2022 including the Indies Today 2022 Finalist Award and the International Review of Books Gold Badge of Achievement.

“Ever the Night Road” is a coming-of-age story featuring female protagonist Dagny Losh. The teenager’s longing for adventure becomes a high-stakes quest guided by the stars and ancient myth, as she and an array of companions encounter danger from both criminal and supernatural forces. Along the way, Dagny will discover the bonds of true friendship, young love and the depths of her own bravery in a brutal and enchanting world.

Rob Errera of IndieReader gave the book a rating of 4.8 out of 5 and said it “has an Indiana Jones vibe combined with the ‘lawless frontier’ themes of a good Zane Grey western.”

“Ever the Night Road” is available in print and e-book through a variety of online retailers such as Amazon, Barnes & Noble, Kobo, Apple, Scribd and more. The anticipated sequel, “Jud,” is expected to be released in late 2023.
